Pandemic Pricing in Effect

The toll of COVID-19 has been great in our country as time has progressed. Our establishment has been no exception to the devastation of this great and terrible disease.

As a result, our stock levels have changed dramatically and devices are harder to obtain than ever. We regret to inform you that our pricing will be affected by this. We have always done our best to source the most affordable products possible while marrying this with quality and reliability. It has been challenging.

Our company was born from the belief that affordable Apple products do not have to cost a fortune and should be accessible to everyone. We want to continue in that tradition as much as possible. For the time being, please bear with us as prices and stock levels fluctuate. We will do our best to meet the challenges head-on and overcome obstacles as we always have done. Some orders may be late or priced according to demand.

We hope you understand and we will always make our customers aware when circumstances change.

Thank you,

Trent Knibbe,
Owner - Affordable iStore

Warranty Information

We ask our customers to observe and understand the following:

You are responsible for your data.

Backup your device if you do not want to lose your data!

Please keep product serial keys for software. We cannot ensure that repairs which require us to erase your data will result in a smooth transition without those serial keys. This means that when you purchase 3rd party software, it is your responsibility to maintain the license.

You break it, you buy it. We will not cover physical damage in any situation, period.

We do not cover theft. If theft insurance is desired, please add the device to your renters or homeowners insurance. They will be able to help you in that regard.

Please understand that our warranty relies on good faith. We do everything we can to help our customers as much as possible, often at tremendous cost to us as a business.

Please treat all warranty issues with patience. We will gladly make everything right for you in whatever way we can if possible. Our staff members are here to serve you.

You have the option to extend your warranty at the time of your purchase.
